

Addendum No. 2 to Solicitation No. JYC-572393
(June 9, 2003)

Except as specifically modified herein, this solicitation remains unchanged. Proposers are reminded that receipt of this Addendum must be acknowledged on Attachment A-1 or A-5 to the solicitation.

Proposers are reminded that the issuance of any subcontract resulting from this solicitation is subject to the Terms and Conditions of JPL's Prime Contract with NASA.

1. The following question and answer is provided to make a clarification to this solicitation:

Question 1:

Can commercial firms propose to the subject solicitation as a subcontractor with a university as the contractor?

Answer 1:

The intent of this solicitation is to acquire technology concepts in the low Technology Readiness Levels that we consider are best suited for educational institutions and non-profit organizations. Although we are primarily interested in soliciting these new concepts from academia, commercial firms are not prohibited from proposing to this solicitation as a subcontractor with a university as the contractor. The principle investigator or other team members, however, may not have joint/dual appointments at JPL.